Programa

General learning result
Characterize theoretical and tangible tools towards neutralizing digital surveillance.
Week	Start date	Contents	Specific learning results
1	Thursday, August 22, 2024	Introduction to rebellion against surveillance technology <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Introduction to the use of the educational platform, program, policies and subject matter of the course. • Struggles and overcoming systems of oppression and state violence. 	You will meet the coordinating teacher, in relation to the theme of the course and his motivation for teaching it, as well as an introduction to the knowledge that will be addressed over the following weeks.
2	Thursday, August 29, 2024	History of policing <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Tracing histories of surveillance, race, and the future of policing. • The policing of social movements. 	We will discuss critical histories of state and police violence to more deeply examine surveillance in our current moment and throughout different regions of the world, considering the institutions that have defined it and how there has always been resistance.
3	Thursday, September 5, 2024	Police Technology <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The impact and organizing against algorithmic discrimination. • Interconnectedness of global surveillance technology used by states and corporations. 	What data and technologies are used by the police? We will study how policing (and the privatization of policing) increasingly relies on and informs technological systems. Examples such as algorithmic discrimination, law enforcement databases, and facial recognition by international governments.
4	Thursday, September 12, 2024	Militarized borders <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Racial capitalism and the politics of global migration. • The new deadly digital border. 	We will focus on questions about global borders, migration, and power. Often framed as “gentler” or “safer” by governments and private companies, digital surveillance across borders has only created a new menace that we can trace alongside patterns of militarization and climate change.

5	Thursday, September 26, 2024	We finish, just to begin <ul style="list-style-type: none">● Recapitulation of the topics covered.● Guidelines for the final project.	You will reflect on the topics covered in the course, together with the completion of the transformative project and the peer evaluation

Evaluation and certification

The course includes formative assessments and a final assessment.

Each week includes an automated formative assessment. This means that once answered, you will immediately know the result and with the correct answers justified so that they serve as feedback in your learning.

The final evaluation has two components: the design of a project and a peer evaluation. Both activities are mandatory for those who wish to obtain the certification of the course:

Final project	Using the learning achieved in the course, you design a concrete action that generates a significant change in the community where you live, thus generating a positive impact on the lives of those around you. To reach the final project, each week you will have the opportunity to make a formative progress.
Co-evaluation	Is the process in which you must evaluate two projects from your classmates that you will receive randomly, completing an evaluation guideline (rubric) that we will also send you in a timely manner.

You will find all the details of orientations, instructions, deadlines, guidelines and spaces for consultations in the corresponding week.

Regarding the certification, it is contemplated that the respective document be jointly endorsed by the institutions that collaborated for the development and production of the course. Consequently, the approval will be co-certified by the following entities:

- Universidad Abierta of Recoleta
- MIJENTE
